Profore

Compression Bandage System

Profore is a convenient presentation of the clinically effective 4 layer bandaging system for venous leg ulcer management. It reinforces a safe and consistent protocol to heal up to 79% of venous leg ulcers in 12 weeks.

Effective Compression

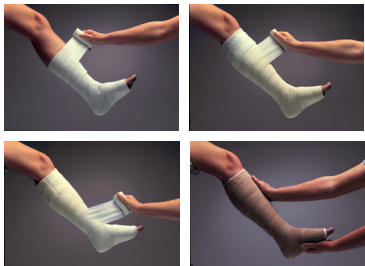

Proven effective in both hospital and community treatment studies, Profore is designed to deliver 40mm Hg pressure at the ankle, decreasing to 17mm Hg at the knee.

Graduated Compression

Profore provides higher pressure at the ankle, with decreasing pressure exhibited at the calf.

Sustained Compression

Even a full week after application, Profore maintains effective levels of compression.

Profore-Lite

Multi-Layer Compression Bandage

Profore Lite is a multi-layer compression bandage system for the treatment of mixed venous and arterial leg ulcers. Profore Lite consists of a low-adherent wound contact layer, an absorbent wool padding layer, a light conformable crepe bandage and a flexible cohesion compression bandage.

Profore Lite does not have the light compression bandage (Profore #3) of the original Profore system, which reduces the overall sub-bandage pressure. The cohesive nature of the outer bandage maintains the security of the Profore Lite system in place for a full week without loss of compression.

Kit

- One Profore wound contact layer (9.5cm x 9.5cm)
- One Profore No.1 natural padding bandage (10cm x 3.5m unstretched)

- One Profore No.4 flexible cohesive bandage (10cm x 3m unstretched)

The multi-layer bandage system has sufficient absorption capacity to manage exudate for up to a week without needing re-application, in most cases.
